Submit proposals to: jacey@plymagazine.com

Proposals due by: December 15, 2016

Planning. That's the theme of the Winter 2017 issue of PLY Magazine. If it's got to do with planning, we're interested. Whether it's how to plan for large, medium, or small projects, we want details, how-tos, and insightful instructions. Tell us about planning a dye job to get specific results so you can spin a particular yarn. How do you figure out what yield a fleece might have so you can plan out the spinning before you lay down the cash? Is your fiber and/or spinning plan different if you're planning on weaving, crocheting, or knitting? Do you plan your yarn based on crimp? Micron count? Amount on hand? A commercial yarn? And what's the best way to approach any of those plans?

How do you plan what type of yarn to spin from the fiber you have on hand? What about from the other side? What if you have a particular yarn in mind? How do you go about planning that process from fiber to finish? How do you plan a project from a yarn you've already spun, unplanned?

What the best way to sample? What's the least amount of sampling you can get by with and still count on a successful outcome? Do you sample for color? How do you sample from a fiber you don't want to waste on sampling? How do you plan for drape? What kinds of things should you know to plan for warmth? What if your goal is loft or elasticity? What's the plan then?

What about other types of planning? How do you plan spinning time? How do you plan to teach yourself something new, a new skill? How do you plan the perfect studio space? What about planning a perfect spinning nook for those spinning in small rooms? Can you avoid spinning disaster by planning the ultimate spinning toolbag? What about planning spinning trips?

This topic is broad and exciting, and we can't wait to see what kinds of things you come up with!

Send any proposals or story ideas to jacey@plymagazine.com by December 15th and we'll try to get back to you by Oct 1st with an answer and an article assignment. Final articles due by June 1, 2017.

Thanks,

Jacey
